RETURNS TO LIFE AFTER BEING DEAD

Sensational Story Concerning Frederick J. Harvey, a Grandson of

THE LATE FREDERICK HARVEY

Who Established System of Eating Houses—Laid Unconscious Nine Months.

According to a letter received from a young lady, formerly Miss Lillian Godfrey, of Denver, Colo., but now the wife of Frederick J. Harvey, son of Bernard Harvey and grandson of the late Frederick Harvey, who established the system of Harvey eating houses, and a nephew of Ford Harvey, well known in this city, the groom has undergone all the experiences of being dead and resurrected.

Her letter to her mother, Mrs. Margaret Godfrey, housekeeper of the Elk hotel, Denver, show that Bernard Harvey and his family live at 2829 Euclid avenue, Kansas City, and that Ford Harvey lives at Leavenworth, Kas. Mrs. Charles Isiah, formerly Reno Elizabeth Harvey, the daughter of Bernard Harvey and sister of Frederick, resides at 1315 Maple avenue, Kansas City.

Mrs. Godfrey says that Frederick Harvey, after suffering for three years from tuberculosis of the lungs and after traveling all through the west with the hopes of recovering, died Tuesday, January 9, at the family residence, 2829 Euclid avenue, Kansas City. She showed the newspaper clipping of his death notice to substantiate her statements and says it was cut out of the Kansas City Journal.

The Friday following his death he was buried in the family vault, his casket being placed on a marble slab next that of his grandfather, Frederick Harvey, and an aunt who died at the age of 3 years. Two or three days afterwards, upon visiting the vault the casket was found opened and signs of life appeared. The lid was left off from that time and the vault visited every day.

In May, when no decomposition had set in, the family decided to remove the body to the home. There it was carefully watched until September 4, when he came back to life.

Mrs. Godfrey has given out the following letter:

"Kansas City, Mo.—My dear daughter, Lillian: Fred is showing more signs of life. When holding a mirror close over the mouth it will turn wet. If he comes to life I shall telegraph you at once, and I want you to come. I don't see why you won't come and live with us. You would have to were you Freddie's wife.

"If you will come, telegraph me and I will wire you a pass, and we should want you to take the name of Lillian Harvey. We would like to have your mother come to see you at any time she wished. I send you my love and best regards. Your father,

"B. F. HARVEY,

"2829 Euclid avenue.

In the daughter's letter she told her mother they were not married in Kansas City, but by a justice of the peace at Amarillo, Texas. She also stated that they would be at the family residence.

JEWISH NEW YEAR CELEBRATION HERE

Will Begin on Evening of September 19, September 20 Being

FIRST DAY OF THE YEAR 5667

Observances and What the Ram's Horn Symbolizes—Services at Temple Albert.

The celebration of the greatest days of the year in the Jewish religion, namely, the Jewish New Year period, will begin in Albuquerque Wednesday evening, September 19, when Rabbi Kaplan of the Congregation Albert, located at the corner of Seventh street and Gold avenue, will open special services. The Jewish New Year day proper will be on September 20, when Rabbi Kaplan will deliver a special New Year address in the temple, the services to begin probably at 9 o'clock.

As the sun goes down September 19 the Jews will enter upon the year 5667, counted allegorically from the creation. The holiday lasts until sundown on the following day, September 20. It is known among the Jewish race as Rosh Hashana, or New Year, and also as the Day of Remembrance. On this day each individual Jew is supposed to call to mind his sins of omission as well as commission during the year just past. It is also termed by some as Yom Haddin, or the Day of Judgment, as, according to the poetic fancy of the rabbis of old, the world's inhabitants were supposed to pass in judgment on that day before the throne of the Almighty.

In this allegory of the day of judgment, three books were pictured as lying before God. In one of which was written the names of the faithful and righteous inscribed thereon for life; in the second the names of the wicked, blotted forever from the Book of Life; and in the third the names of the intermediate, they to be passed upon on the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, the tenth day after the Jewish New Year.

The great symbol of the Jewish New Year is the ram's horn, which, according to latter interpretation, was connected with the life of Abraham, who, when about to sacrifice his son, Isaac, was called upon by an angel to turn aside and behold a ram in the bushes, which he should offer up in place of his son. The ram's horn, or shofar, symbolizes the loftiest spiritual meanings, and was used like a trumpet to announce the new moon, solemn feasts, in processions, accompanying sacred songs, as a signal of war and as a message of peace for the Sabbath, in the olden days. On the afternoon of the New Year orthodox Jews congregate near running streams and offer prayers, because Micah says, "Thou wilt cast all thy sins into the depths of the sea."

The returned Jews do not engage in this ceremony.

The observance of the holidays will continue until the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, which this year falls on September 29.

ACCIDENTS ON WATER BY NIGHT

Steamer Oregon Wrecked On Pacific Coast But Passengers All Saved.

LAUNCH CAPSIZED IN NEW YORK BAY LAST NIGHT

Three Were Drowned and Survivors at First Refused to Tell Their Own Names.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 15.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Valdez says: The steamer Oregon hit the rocks on the beach off Hinchbrook island at the entrance of Prince William sound at 12 o'clock Thursday night. She was trying to find the entrance in the darkness, when the headland loomed up and although she reversed her engines the vessel struck hard enough to tear her bottom off. The Oregon struck at low tide and the water soon filled the engine room to the second grating. The crew of five men left immediately for Valdez to get assistance. The revenue cutters Rush and McCullough went to take off the passengers. The steamer is exposed to the full force of the swell, and if the wind rises is in a precarious position. The wreck occurred seventy miles from Valdez and thirty-five miles from Nuchek. The passengers are safe but the vessel will be a total loss.

Cape Hinchbrook is a narrow of land extending far out into the sea, forming one side of the entrance to Prince William sound. It has ever been regarded as a menace to navigation and the government is now erecting a light at the extreme end of the point at a cost of $125,000. The Oregon is owned by the Northwestern company of Seattle. She sailed from Seattle for Valdez and Seward September 8, having on board fifty passengers.
